
Communicate Management Aims and Direction [1]

Management develops an enterprise IT control framework and defines and communicates policies. An ongoing communication program is implemented to articulate the mission, service objectives, policies and procedures, etc., approved and supported by management. The communication supports achievement of IT objectives and ensures awareness and understanding of business and IT risks, objectives and direction. The process ensures compliance with relevant laws and regulations.

Source URL: <https://gta.georgia.gov/psg/book-page/communicate-management-aims-and-direction>